Ex. Don d. Bolívar,
Director, Museo Nacional de Ciencias Naturales, Madrid,

My dear Mr. Bolívar:

I am pleased to inform you how I have found conditions excellent here in the north for my studies and that I have now about two hundred bird skins representing more than fifty forms, and may hope for others in the few days that remain to me. My work is giving me an excellent understanding of the living birds of this area which was my desire in coming here.

I regret to write that I do not expect to return to Madrid so that I may not thank you in person for your courtesies to me in connection with my visit to your country. May I express the hope that our meeting may bring about a closer connection and understanding between our ~~two~~^{respective} museums that will be to mutual advantage.

With kindest regards to your son and best wishes to you yourself, I remain Most sincerely yours,

Alexander Wetmore.

Dr. C. Bolivar,
c/o Museo Nacional de Ciencias Naturales, Madrid, Spain.

Dear Dr. Bolivar:

I have just requested from the Bureau of Biological Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture, that they send to you copies of their regulations governing the Federal Protection of Birds in this country. This is done at your request when I saw you in Madrid at the end of April.

I have only recently returned to Washington after a highly interesting journey abroad. It was very pleasant to see you in Madrid, and I hope that I may have the pleasure of meeting you in this country. With kindest regards to your father and to others at the museum, I am

Sincerely yours,

G. Wetmore
Assistant Secretary.
